Anti-Racism Learning Resources for Allies

The Anti-Oppression Curriculum (AOC) Initiative has compiled a set of resources that are meant to introduce some key concepts and ideas around race, racism and anti-racism. This list is meant as a starting point and is by no means comprehensive. These resources are intended primarily to help individuals who have not personally experienced the traumas inflicted by racism to learn more about experiences with and impacts of racism, to consider white privilege and the ways in which it reinforces systems of oppression, and to explore strategies for allyship and upstanding.

In approaching this resource list, we suggest finding a friend or colleague who is also committed to building their knowledge and skills as an ally/upstander who would like to partner with you in this learning. It can be helpful to debrief with a trusted friend or colleague after viewing/reading these resources. One approach is to choose one resource per week to discuss.

We expect this resource list to continue to evolve over time. If you have ideas for additional resources to add to this list, or other feedback you would like to convey, please share your thoughts here.
