

Well-Being Series

The well-being series promotes the development of skills and approaches to well-being, including strategies to mitigate burnout and optimize a fulfilling professional career.

Teaching Series

The teaching series promotes skills relevant to educators in the clinical learning environment.

WILD Series

Women in Leadership Development is a series of evening talks, workshops, and networking sessions available GME-wide to all women residents and fellows at UCSF.

GME College

Showcase Series

This series showcases new curricular sessions and best practices in emerging competency areas.

DEI Series

This series promotes knowledge and skills in promoting diversity, equity, and inclusivity in the clinical learning environment.

The GME College is a forum for residents, fellows, chief residents, health profession learners, faculty, and education leaders to learn about core topics in graduate medical education (GME).